In the pages which follow
we have tried to capture a bit of the activity of Le Mars High School as we find it in the various departments and class rooms, and in the extracurricular organizations. We have also included reminders of special occasions and of associations formed during school days, both in and out of the class rooms. We hope that now and in the years to come these pages will recall happy memories of your days in L.H.S.

In the spacious outer room of the Superintendent's Office, Secretary Lorraine Donlin takes a letter for Superintendent Kluckhohn.

LE MARS HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY

An innovation which greeted Le Mars high school students on their return to school last fall was a new library-study hall set up. The library shelves, formerly located in a room adjoining the assembly hall, had been transferred during the summer to the east and north walls of the study room, where a new charging desk and reading tables had been installed.

Approximately 1500 books were added to the library during the past year making a grand total of over 2700. These include standard reference material in all subjects taught, as well as up-to-date material in other special fields. About 150 works of fiction have been purchased. These were classified and arranged on the shelves during the summer, largely through the efforts of Superintendent Kluckhohn. An up-to-date catalogue file based on the Dewey Decimal System lists these books according to title, author, and subject matter.

Encyclopedias, special dictionaries, and atlases are also available, as is an extensive pamphlet file. The library subscribes to about twenty magazines and periodicals for class room use and circulation among the students, and the Reader's Guide is kept for reference.

Mrs. Hazel Snell, formerly of Hawarden, is in charge of the library-study hall, devoting full time to the project. She is assisted by twenty student librarians.

Circulation records indicate an increasing interest and appreciation of the library, which interest and appreciation, it is hoped, will grow through the years.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Composed of the representatives of each of the classes and organizations is the Student Council, which heads the list of student activities. The organization holds regular meetings every six weeks at which time a luncheon is prepared and served by the home-making department.

Activities of the Council this year included arrangements for homecoming festivities, the sale of defense stamps and bonds to the students, and the sponsoring of the annual Student Forum.

In connection with the stamp and bond sale, the Council put on a drive to raise funds for an ambulance, which was attained by Pearl Harbor Day.

Centering about the theme "Youth Looks to the Future" the Council planned and carried out a two-day forum with local and out-of-town speakers. President of the Council was Don De Jager.

HOMECOMING

To the Le Mars High School students, the annual homecoming events constitute one of the major activities of the fall season. The festivities of this year were held on October 27, and began with a rousing pep meeting. Numbers by the school band added to the spirit of the occasion. James Deegan, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced the guest speakers who included A/S Jack Koerner, representing the service men; Mrs. Jane Congdon speaking for the faculty; and Miss Jerry Simeon and Mr. John Moore as alumni speakers. Following the talks, a skit was presented under the direction of Bill Sturges. The climax of the occasion was the crowning of the queen, Barbara Hodges, by the Duke, Charles Walsh. The queen appeared on the stage with her attendants.

Following the program, the traditional parade, consisting of floats prepared by the various classes and organizations, formed outside of the school building. Headed by the band and queen's float, the parade made its way to the business district where the entries were judged and prizes awarded. First place was given to the freshman float, second place to the sophomore float, and third, to the G. A. A. entry.

In the evening a large crowd witnessed a football thriller in which the Bulldogs defeated the Leeds Lancers 31-6. Following the football game, the alumni dance was held in the school gymnasium.

BARK STAFF

Under the sponsorship of Miss Wangberg and the senior class, plans for the 1945 annual were well under way by early fall. A staff of twenty-two members was chosen, headed by Paula Schnepf as editor-in-chief. Assistant editors were Irene Miller and Marian Miller.

Hester Ann Pitts and Jack Hentges, as co-business managers, were in charge of the sale of sponsorships, to which one hundred and twenty-one business firms responded. Mary Rita Sieverding, as circulation manager, conducted the sale of Barks to the students. Mr. Clark supervised the business management.

In charge of features was James Deegan. Joyce Cooper served as art editor. Carlton Harker was snapshot editor and Bill Grahlmann assisted with photography. Class reporters were Catherine Ahrendsen, Ramona Johnson and Ruth Ann Morris. Activity reporters were Dona Lee Bendixen, Don Buckley, Virginia Downing, Alvin Mauer and Mary Margaret Russell. Bonny Wick served as faculty editor, and typists were Audrey Moser and Ruth Brunken.

The contract for printing was awarded to W. O. Myers and Company of Topeka, Kansas. A production schedule was arranged in five consignments covering a period from December to April. Pictures were taken by Mr. Ray Troutman of Sioux City.

Staff meetings were held in the evenings and after school hours. Because of the added sale of sponsorships and annuals, it was possible to slightly enlarge this year's edition of the Bark.

MILL STAFF

With an initial sum of $120 which was presented by the class of 1944, the Mill was able in September to resume publication as a monthly printed paper. The addition of a journalism class to the school curriculum made possible the selection of a Mill Staff composed entirely of journalism students. The staff, headed by Carlton Harker as editor-in-chief and James Deegan as managing editor, proceeded to publish a newsy monthly edition under the leadership of Mrs. Jane Congdon, faculty advisor. The paper was printed at the Le Mars Sentinel office.

In charge of special divisions were news editor, Bonny Wick; feature editors, Hester Pitts and Ruth Ann Morris, and sports editors, Dick Hammer, Bill Haas and Jane Parkinson.

During the past year the Mill joined the National Press Association. As a result of such membership the publication was given an opportunity to compete for national honors and the paper entitled to comparison with other school papers and grading by competent judges. At frequent intervals pamphlets on aids and advice for better journalism were received. The staff felt that through its membership in the National Association the quality and standard of its paper had been improved.

Two hundred copies of each edition were sent to graduates of 1944, and, upon request, to all alumni and former students who are now in service. Margaret Laux was in charge of the circulation. Approximately twenty-five schools in Iowa and surrounding states exchanged papers with the Mill. Marian Miller served as exchange editor.

Carlton Harker represented the Mill on the Student Council.

F.T.A.

Junior and senior girls who plan to become teachers compose the organization known as the Future Teachers of America. The purpose of the organization is to help members secure and preserve qualities of character and personality essential to a good teacher and to develop abilities of leadership.

Meetings are held on the third Monday of each month. Special projects of the club are serving as substitute teachers, ushering at school activities and attending teachers' meetings. The girls also visit schools in the rural areas. In the spring a practice school is organized in which each girl is required to teach one week. Girls also teach two days in a rural school.

The officers of the club are: president, Catherine Ahrendsen; vice-president, Joyce Utesch; secretary-treasurer, Paula Schnepf. Miss Martha Kuebler is the faculty sponsor.

SCHOLARSHIP CLUB

Composed of the students in the junior and senior classes with a three-point average is the Scholarship Club, an honorary society to which members are admitted at the close of each semester. At the end of the year a gold pin is awarded to those who have attained a 3.5 average, and a silver pin is given to those who have a three-point average. Irene Miller is the president of the organization and represents the group in the Student Council.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Homemaking classes, under the direction of Miss Edith Johnson, study problems of the home such as the preparation and purchasing of foods selection and construction of clothing, and beautification of home furnishings. Practical experience is gained through the serving of dinners and luncheons. This year the girls had a splendid opportunity of applying their art principles in beautifying the sewing room which had been enlarged during the summer. The homemaking library was re-classified this year under what is known as the outline system. Seventy-five new books were added.

Officers of the Homemaking Club are: president, Barbara Wick; vice president, Gail Crowley; secretary-treasurer, Elizabeth Congdon; historian, Margaret Schueller.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

One of the organizations in which Le Mars High School may feel justifiable pride is its local F.F.A. chapter. The Future Farmers of America is the largest farm boy organization in the world, and has in the sixteen years of its life, enrolled more than 200,000 members.

Headed by Mr. Wichelmann, vocational agriculture instructor, the Le Mars chapter has built up an enviable reputation in this community. It has progressed to the point where, in recognition of its efficiency and effectiveness, the government has declared it the third Official Seed Testing Laboratory in the State of Iowa.

Among the services provided to the community are the making and selling of concrete hog troughs, selling seed corn for several companies, testing soil, testing seeds for purity and germination, pruning trees, and selling seed potatoes. Corn-yield test plot work has been established, and a Junior Herd Improvement Association has been formed and is functioning satisfactorily. As an outgrowth for the need of insuring project livestock, the Le Mars Junior Mutual Insurance Association has been formed and is entering into its second year of operation. News reporters are getting valuable training in the publicity field by submitting weekly news items to the local papers.

Thirty-three members are enrolled in the local chapter and all members are carrying projects of some type. Each member serves on one of the various committees.

In addition to an active program of work, a recreational program has been organized which includes a basketball team, an annual roller skating party, and motion pictures for entertainment.

Local officers for the year are: Robert Nipp, President; Arthur Fenske, Vice President; Lowell Klemme, Secretary; Donnie Reisch, Treasurer, and Harold Albert, Reporter.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

Under the direction of Miss Dorothy Kleinert, the Instrumental Music Department consists of marching band, concert band, orchestra, junior band, and several small ensembles.

Activities of the marching band included appearances at the football games at which the band not only furnished music but entertained with field performances between halves. The group also participated in various patriotic parades as well as in the homecoming parade.

The concert band, consisting of forty members, presented, as in the past years, a fall and spring concert with small groups also participating. Both classical and popular numbers were used. The concert band also played at basketball games, pep meetings, and for several special occasions.

President of the band organization is Mary Rita Sieverding.

VOCAL MUSIC

The vocal music department is under the direction of Miss Janice Bardill and Miss Dorothy Kleinert. The various groups, with the exception of a few that had not yet been organized, participated in the annual fall vocal concert which was held October 24. A small group of mixed voices and the Mixed Chorus took part in a Christmas program presented December 20. On various occasions during the Christmas season the Mixed Quartet and Double Quartet sang Christmas carols in the corridors.

The first representatives from Le Mars to compete at a State Contest during wartime were the small groups and a few soloists selected in the Home Elimination Contest. These groups also appeared in a spring festival. All groups participated in the annual spring concert.

The Boys' Quartet, Girls' Trio, Girls' Sextet, Mixed Quartet, and the Double Quartet offered their services throughout the year to the various local organizations.

DEBATE

With a nucleus of three veteran debaters who had represented LeMars in the 1944 state contest and won a tournament at Vermillion South Dakota, LeMars debaters experienced another successful season in 1945.

Arguing the question, "Resolved: That the voting age should be lowered to 18 years," they began with practice debates with Central and East in Sioux City and continued through the usual rounds of tournaments. The veterans were James Deegan, Nancy Starzl, and Bonny Wick.

TRIPLE D

Triple "D" is an honorary society which originally stood for debate, declamation, and dramatics. Since the debaters now receive an award of their own and declamation has been discontinued, this organization continues as a dramatic group under the former name.

JUNIOR PLAY

"Ah Men," was the title of a hilarious comedy presented by the Junior class, November 29. The setting of the play was in 2050 A. D., at which time women were portrayed as occupying all positions of importance in the government, the army, and labor. Men who had fallen to an effeminate level were wooed, protected, and supported by the women.

The action concerned Eleanor Hazlitt, President of the United States, who unexpectedly arrived at the home of Senator Betsford, who had been won over to support Eleanor's opponent in the approaching election. From then on the plot centered on Vicky Lauderbeck, Senator Betsford's husband, who led the men into taking over the army, overthrowing the government, and restoring normal relationships again.

The cast was as follows:

Hodges	Betty Hart
Hollingsworth	Bill Pew
Junior	Norine Rippey
Jetson	Darlene Plueger
Susan Betsford	Gracie Null
Major Betsford	Betty Mueller
Vicky Lauderbeck	Wendell Tucker
Mr. Pfeffer	Robert Simmons

SENIOR PLAY

The wooded forests of a remote region in the hills in a lonely and haunted house was the scene of action for the senior class play, "One Mad Night," presented May 8. A playwright, accompanied by his valet, had sought the deserted mansion in order that he might have a peaceful atmosphere while finishing his play. To his astonishment he found the house inhabited by a group of lunatics, among them a beautiful girl with an amazing story of persecution. Through a colored maid's antics, the screaming women, and an escaped murderer, the playwright succeeded in rescuing the lovely lady from a sinister fate. The cast of fourteen seniors was under the direction of Mrs. Jane Congdon.

G.A.A.

A well-rounded program of sports for girls is maintained through the activities of the Girls' Athletic Association under the direction of Miss Dorothy Banks. The organization is open to any girl who shows definite interest in girls' athletics.

In order to allow a maximum number of girls to participate, the organization is divided into two groups, the rural girls meeting during the noon hour and the town group holding its meetings at 4:00 o'clock. In this way about seventy-five girls are accommodated. The two groups meet in competitive activities.

Among competitive sports are basketball, volleyball, and softball. Gold trophies are awarded for inter-class competition in these sports. In 1944 the trophies were awarded to the junior class. Throughout the year the girls also meet girls' teams from Western Union College.

Hester Pitts is president of the town group and Audrey Moser heads the rural group.

First Row: Bonnie Luken, Betty Lang, Lela Bell Coil, Barbara Raber, Norine Rippey, Hester Ann Pitts, Mary Rita Sieverding, Margaret Laux, Ruth Brunken, Marian Miller.

Second Row: Miss White, Ruth Ann Morris, Jane Parkinson, Glada Reichert, Ruth Newendorp, Marilyn Schnieder, Margaret Green, Mary Margaret Russell, Ardith Amundsen, Ramona Johnson, Miss Banks.

FOOTBALL

Crowning an undefeated season with a total of nine wins, the Bulldogs, under Coach Carey, finished their 1944 season with a score of 312 points against 19 of their opponents.

First obstacle of the season was Estherville which the team defeated with a good margin of 27-0. The following eight games saw the same stiff opposition from the Bulldogs.

Highlight of the season for the opposition came in the Bulldogs seventh start when, having been undefeated and unscored upon, the Leeds Lancers crossed their goal line in the Le Mars homecoming game.

The toughest game was the finale for the 1944 team. Engaging Trinity of Sioux City, the Bulldogs came through with a 13-7 score in the closest contest of the season.

Climaxing the season was a banquet given to the boys and their coach by the local Commercial Club.

BASKET BALL

Chalking up a total of sixteen wins against one defeat, the LeMars Basketball team ended one of its most successful seasons in the history of the school. With an undefeated conference slate, the school won for the third time conference honors.

Starting for the first time with a zone defense, the Bulldogs made an average of 40 points per game as against their opponents' 25-point average. Height also proved an asset to the Bulldogs, who had a 6-foot 1-inch average.

The outstanding game of the season was played with East High School of Sioux City, in which the Bulldogs suffered their first defeat of the season by the slim margin of one point.

In the district tournament held at LeMars, the Bulldogs avenged their rival, East High, by a defeat of 25-20. In the finals of this tournament the Bulldogs lost to Central High School of Sioux City by a score of 30-45.

F.F.A. BASKET BALL

Coached by Mr. Wichelmann, the F.F.A. basketball teams bounced their way to a second successful season. The regulars played six games, of which they won five. The Reserves played five, winning two. All boys taking vocational agriculture were given an opportunity to play. The work of scheduling games and of arranging for referees and gym space was carried on by the recreation committee of the F.F.A.

TRACK

Since the Annual goes to press before the current track season commences, it is not possible to give an account of that activity. However, the locals won first place in the Tri-State meet held in Le Mars last year, and prospects for the 1945 season are good.

Winning second in the State in the 220-yard dash last year was Bill Pew, then a sophomore.

CHEERLEADERS

Right down in front of the cheering section directing yells and boosting school morale at all athletic contests have been our five faithful cheerleaders. In addition to being present at all home games, the girls have also given their support at many of the out-of-town contests. Arrangements for all pep meetings were in charge of the cheering squad. Hats off to them!

LETTER CLUB

Composed of all boys winning major letters in football, basketball, or track is the Letter Club. Twenty-six boys qualified for this honorary organization during the past year. Don De Jager represented the group on the Student Council.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Fourteen seniors were this year elected to membership in the Le Mars chapter of the National Honor Society. Membership which is based upon distinction in scholarship, leadership, character, and service is limited to fifteen per cent of the seniors in any given class. In scholarship a student must rank in the upper one-third of his class in order to be eligible.

In selecting members for the society, a student's scholastic standing is carefully computed and he is awarded service points for his participation in school activities. Faculty members are then asked to rate the student in qualities of leadership and character. Final election to the society is by vote of the faculty.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

Upon entering the auditorium on the evening of May 15, one might have thought himself suddenly transported to Holland. Centered about a windmill, were tables attractively decorated in Dutch colors and with multi-colored tulips. The scene was the annual banquet at which the juniors were hosts to the seniors, faculty members, and school board. Waiters and waitresses in Dutch apparel moved among the guests, serving a tasty dinner prepared by the mothers of the juniors with the assistance of sophomore homemaking girls and boys, under the supervision of Miss Johnson. Courses were interspersed with music and a toast program.

Following the banquet, the prom was held, at which music was furnished by Don Oliver and his orchestra.

The executive committee in charge of banquet preparations was composed of Dave Hentges, Bob Simmons, Evelyn Donlin, Ardythe Kloster, Dick Carey, and Betty Fett. Faculty sponsors were Miss Johnson, Miss Cooper, Mrs. Eyres, and Mr. Clark.
